

Mary Jane Bennett

A FEMALE FIRST

A Lighthouse is a beacon light to warn or guide ships away from dangers. Lighthouses are often located in lonely, bleak places. Mary-Jane Bennett's husband was the first 'Keeper of the Light' at Pencarrow Lighthouse. After his death in 1855, Mary took over as the 'Keeper of the Light', becoming the first and only female lighthouse keeper ever.

